MONEY MARKET.

WEDNESDAY, March 17-6 P. M. There was not so much buoyancy in the stock market te-day. There is evidently considerable apprehension in the minds of many large holders of the leading fancies—those which have been so rapidly inflated—that the market will break down before they can clear out a portion of their supplies. There is certainly foundation for such fears; and those who quietly slip out, will not only be relieved of a vast deal of anxiety, but will realize somewhite. It is the greedy speculator who leave all for a thing. It is the greedy speculator who loses all for a greater prespective gain. Operators satisfied with mode-rate profits, generally realize, and withdraw from the marhet, leaving the chances with those who come into the movement at a later period. The reaction at the second board yesterday and this morning, is just what we have been looking for. It was sure to come. This is but a srifle to what will ultimately be experienced. At the first pany, 14; Long Island, 14; Reading, 14; Norwich and Worcester, 14; Canton Company, 14; Stonington, 14. A greater per cent of the transactions to-day were for each, per cent. This stock has advanced very rapidly lately, and if one half that is said of the company be true, it is worth a great deal more than current prices.

The receipts at the office of the Assistant Treasurer of this port, to-day, amounted to $84,102 99; payments, $30,660 19—balance, $2,733,406 73.

The Supreme Court of Ohio has affirmed the validity o county and city bonds issued as subscription for railroad purposes previous to the passage of the new constitution, by which the further issue of such bonds, or other stock highest court of Ohio, coupled with the fact that no more esunty and city bonds can be issued, will tend to make the bonds now in market more sought for and valuable. declared the constitutionality of city and county sub-

The Pottsville Miners' Journal, speaking of the Schuyl-kill Canal and Reading Railread, informs us that the eanal has fixed its freight tells to Philadelphia at 65 eents, and to New York at $1 65 per ton. It adds—
"The rates by railroad continue at $1 50, with a drawback of 20 cents a ton (some say 30) for the New York trade. With 20 cents drawback by railroad, the canal would appear to have the advantage for the New York trade." From this it will be perceived that the business of the railread is likely to be seriously affected by the Schuylkill Canal. If the canal has the advantage under the present reduced rates charged by the road, the presthe present reduced rates charged by the road, the pres-pects of a largely increased trade are not very flattering. The business of the road will doubtless fall off in the prepertion of the advantage the canal has over the road. Under such circumstances, the chances of earning a dividend are more remote than ever. The railroad com-pany cannot afford to reduce their rates any lower to compete with the canal, as with a receipt of 1,650,000 tens in 1851, the average yielded but $1.22 per ton. As the tonnage diminishes, the average of the receipts will be at a lower range, and may be reduced to $1.11 per ton. be at a lower range, and may be reduced to $1 11 per ton, instead of $1 22. Should the tonnage diminish in the propertion it has during the first two and a half months, the whole diminution of the income, as compared with last year, will be equal to $375,000. These are the prospects of the Reading Railroad for this year; but it spite of these plain and undeniable facts, the stock advances in price. It is not from a conviction of its value, but from a reckless spirit of speculation, which will react with redoubled force upon those engaged in the movement. We have shown that it is impossible for the road to earn a dividend; but yet it may be declared. There is no difficulty in giving dividends to stockholders, when means are resorted to, as it was with the dividend in January. which was declared amidst strife and contention, and the money bor-who have any interest in Reading stock, would act wisely to sell out and let it alone. The bears, however, are watching the favorable moment with breathless attention; and when the proper time arrives, they will rush in, like so many half famished wolves, for a fair division of the spoils.

According to this the increase in the first two months of 1852, has been upwards of one hundred per cent. The above named road is, without doubt, the best managed and most productive road in the United States. Its annual reports are perfect models, and if other railroad companies would give as full and detailed statements of their operations, we should not have so much difficulty in analyzing them, or to make them clear to the compre bension of the public generally.

The Comptroller of the State of Texas has advertised for proposals, to be received at his office until May 1st, for the purchase of one million of the five per cent United States bonds, just received from the United States. The proposals are to state what will be given for bonds deliverable, and the proceeds paid severally at Austin and Galveston, Texas, Washington City, New Orleans, and New York, The bonds are in sums not smaller than $1.00. The State has $250.000 in specie, received for interest. But it has been decided not to use this in making payment of old debts. The bonds in which the second class debts are payable will be assigned over at par, only there is a great difficulty with these large bonds in making change, and the creditors are invited to club tegether, so as to make it easy.
